DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant has improperly amended the claims in that the remaining claim is not numbered. The examiner has treated the single claim as claim 3 in view of the marked-up copy of the claims. Correction is required.

Specification

2. Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: the phrase "it can repeatedly passes" is improper grammar. The examiner suggests amending the claim to read either "it can repeatedly pass" or "it repeatedly passes". Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 3 continues to be rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dinulescu (US 4,265,732) as presented in paragraph 4 of Paper No. 7.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed March 7, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that it is impossible for reactant flow to repeatedly flow through blades unlike the cavity of the present claim.

The examiner respectfully disagrees with applicant. Applicant has not provided any evidence from the patent itself nor in the form of a declaration, but merely stated that flow cannot repeated pass through blades.

With respect to the cavity configuration, the examiner notes that the cavity configuration is only described in the specification as an "annular cavity" (p. 10, line 33 of the substitute specification). Dinulescu illustrates a cavity which is also annular (see fig. 2a).

In response to applicant's argument that the cavity of Dinulescu is not configured for repeated reactant flow, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
